HITLER AND MUSSOLINI HOLD THREE-HOUR TALK AT BRENNER PASS; U. S. POSITION DISCUSSED

Nazis Bomb Gas Works, Arms Plant

German High Command Also Says Air Camps Are Struck by Raiders Over Britain

Trucks Are Hit

Transport Trucks Hit North of London and Troops Scattered

Berlin, Oct. 4 (AP)—Bombings of a gas works in northwestern London, armament plants in Coventry and Chester in England's industrial midlands, and of British aviation camps were reported by the German high command today.

A communiqué said the air war against Britain was carried out yesterday despite bad weather, but informed sources said the attacks were materially reduced from their previous scale.

Only one British plane was able to penetrate western German territory because of the unfavorable weather, and its attack resulted in no noteworthy damage, the high command said, but it was admitted that attacks had been made on the Norwegian coast.

High flames shot from the gas works attacked in northwestern London, the communiqué said, and direct hits were registered on assembly shops and machine shops of two armament works at Chester, south of Liverpool, and Coventry, 75 miles northwest of London.

Hangars, barracks, runways and airplanes were reported destroyed in attacks on an airport in Cornwall. In a raid on a fliers' camp at Sheerness, on the south side of the Thames estuary, direct hits were reported on troops and barracks.

Transport Trucks Hit

Columns of trucks transporting troops north of London were declared to have been scattered by single plane attacks.

Only three British planes and four German planes were reported lost.

Authorized Nazis minimized today the military effectiveness of British bombing attacks on Germany during September, and reported British shipping losses since the war started now totaled 7,000,000 tons.

Recapitulating the heightened aerial warfare for September, German informants said the British dropped 7,542 bombs on German territory but that only 1.6 per cent of these hit military targets.

British plane losses during August and September were put at 2,474 against only 706 for Germany.

Of the losses reported inflicted on British shipping, Nazi submarines accounted for 5,000,000 tons and the air force for 2,000,000 tons, the semi-official Dienst Aus Deutschland said.

Nearly Million Tons
The latest German figures would indicate that British shipping losses have averaged nearly 1,000,000 tons a month since July 1. Up to that time Germany claimed to have destroyed 4,329,213 tons.

(British have declared their shipping losses to be far less than claimed by Germany.)
More than 100 German planes flew over London yesterday and dropped 300,000 pounds of bombs on the British capital, causing "great destruction" and setting many fires, DNB, official news agency, reported.

Authorized sources declared one Nazi warplane dropped a bomb of heaviest caliber directly in front of a 25-car British troop train, creating "a unique picture of destruction."

130,000 Italians Move Up Near Greek Frontier

120 Tanks Reinforce Soldiers in Albania; Greece Is Ready for Any Event

Athens, Greece, Oct. 4 (AP)—Italian army forces in Albania, totaling 130,000 men and 120 tanks have shifted their positions to new posts near the Greek frontier in the past few days, official sources said today.

Troop movements from Italy to Albania, Italy's recently acquired territory in the Balkans, have been frequent recently, and numerous ships are available in the Adriatic to speed additional forces across the narrow sea if needed, Greek government circles said.

Official sources, however, expressed belief that Italian strength in Albania still was under 200,000 men.

All Precautions Taken

"All precautions have been taken by Greece against surprise from any quarter," official quarters declared.

The Fascist press several weeks ago voiced demands for a share of Greece's northern Epirus on behalf of Albania.

Reports of Italian troop movements reached here as Adolf Hitler and Premier Mussolini ended a dramatic conference at Brenner Pass.

The Greek army is virtually on a basis of "permanent concentration." Border garrisons have been fully manned since the anti-Greek campaign in the Italian press became hottest more than a month ago.

The government decreed that all unoccupied houses in the country could be requisitioned should air raids force removal of populations from cities.

Greek interest was focused on the Brenner Pass meeting and what it might bring this nation, which has a guarantee of aid from Britain should her independence or territorial integrity be threatened.

Mr. Ego was found in his wrecked car about 4 o'clock Saturday morning by Frank Jones and Wally Allan of Stony Hollow, and removed to the hospital where he remained under treatment until Tuesday, when he left for his home.

Anglo Coast Town Gets Heavy Raid

British Say Bombing Is Retaliation for Loss of Nine Axis Subs and Destroyer

Convoy Is Hit

German Coastal Guns Pound Ships in Dover Straits

(By The Associated Press)

London, Oct. 4—As if to even war scores after Britain announced destruction of nine Axis submarines and a destroyer, German planes in relays thundered up the Thames against London this afternoon and blasted viciously at a southeast coast town.

British sources said that the pounding of the unidentified southeast coast town—in an area long regarded as the likeliest place for an attempted German landing—was the worst it had experienced.

Earlier, in the same region, German coastal guns on the French shore picked a British convoy out of the murky dawn on the Straits of Dover and raked the ships with booming salvos.

Shells yeagering the water of the strait shook houses on the Kentish shore. It was not disclosed in London whether the Germans scored any hits, but it was said that the convoy, tugging its own anti-aircraft balloon barrage, steamed on around the coast, past the Cap Gris Nez promontory where the German guns were firing.

The roar of attackers coming up the Thames Estuary signaled the Nazis' return to the battle of London after the quietest night of the 27 since the air siege of the capital began.

During the afternoon two bombs fell in an east London district, damaging four houses in which eight persons were believed trapped. It was London's first raid since dawn. Two were killed and many injured in north London.

Murray Withholds Decision on Plea In Davison Trial

Case Against Drs. Mathers and Sanford Would Be Tried in Ulster, if Bid Is Granted

An application for change of place for trial of a $100,000 action brought by Mrs. Mary Davison of Poughkeepsie against Dr. James Mathers and Dr. L. E. Sanford of this city was heard before Justice Murray at special term of supreme court this morning.

Mrs. Davison alleged that she was damaged through a commitment which was made to Middletown State Hospital by the court after the two local physicians had examined her and made their report to the court. Justice Murray reserved decision.

Corporation Counsel John M. Cashin appeared for the defendants and sought to have the place of trial changed from Dutchess county to Ulster county on the (Continued on Page Two)

Georgia 'Democrats for Willkie' Party Endorses Republican Ticket

Atlanta, Oct. 4 (AP)—A newly organized political party, Georgia "Democrats for Willkie" today had endorsed the Republican presidential ticket and the regular Democratic state of state officials for the November 5 general election.

The action came a few days after Alabama Republicans had chosen 11 Presidential electors, nine of whom were formerly identified with the Democratic party, and three Republican candidates for state offices had withdrawn from the November ticket in Florida in a move to aid anti-third term Democrats.

Sam Nunn, chairman of the Georgia convention, described the independent party as a permanent break between Democrats supporting President Roosevelt and those for Wendell Willkie and declared "we have not left the old Democratic party—it left us."

The independent group nominated one-time New Deal critic Eugene Talmadge for governor. He had been previously nominated by the long-existing Democratic organization.

Willkie Addresses Steel Workers

Wendell L. Willkie, Republican candidate for president, made one of the major speeches of his campaign in a stop at Pittsburgh, Pa., in a drive for Pennsylvania's 36 important electoral votes. Here he's addressing a crowd at the Homestead works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation near Pittsburgh.

Willkie Says U. S. Needs Unity to Revitalize Nation

Crowd of 20,000 Hears G.O.P. Nominee Blame New Deal for Class Distinctions

Aboard Willkie Train Enroute to Philadelphia, Oct. 4 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie told an audience at Harrisburg, Pa., today that elimination of class distinctions, which he declared the New Deal had fostered, would help improve economic conditions in the United States.

"I call America back to unity," said the Republican presidential nominee, asserting that unity would enable development of a strong national defense and revitalization of industry.

The hot sun threw highlights across Willkie's face. In the plaza stood a crowd estimated at 20,000 by Col. Lynn G. Adams, commissioner of state police.

"The disunion that has been preached in the last seven years is one of the basic causes of our economic depression today," Willkie said.

Job Is Simple
"It is simple to end class warfare in the United States and bring cooperation and send the men back to work in the factories and the mills and then the 9,600,000 unemployed will disappear."

"If we continue to go down the present road of economic depression, of disunity, we will go down the road to war because dictators only strike when they think we are weak and we will be weak."

Willkie drove to the capitol amidst shouts and cheers from the crowd that followed his car. Riding with the candidate and Mrs. Willkie were Governor Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania and his daughter, Dorothy.

Willkie described Senator James J. Davis (Rep., Pa.) as "an old and dear friend," the crowd applauded. The Senator was seated on the platform.

Willkie explained that Davis had helped to organize a tin plate workers union in Elwood, Ind., and that he himself as a young attorney, first had entered a courtroom as an attorney for the union.

In conclusion, Willkie told his listeners:

Tokyo, Oct. 4 (AP)—Premier Prince Konoye invited the United States today to cooperate with the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo Axis and declared on the other hand that any United States challenge to Axis division of world leadership would bring a "fight to the finish."

The issue of peace or war in the Pacific, Konoye said in an interview published by Domei, Japanese news agency, is up to the United States and her's is the responsibility for any adjustment of relations with Japan.

Reds Hit Bridges For Run in First

Veteran Tiger Pitcher Is Touched at Home Park in Detroit

Briggs Stadium, Detroit, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds continued their unexpected heavy hitting today as they scored a first inning run off Tommy Bridges, Detroit Tiger veteran right hander, in the third game of the World Series.

Bill Werber, Cincinnati third sacker, started the Reds' out-break when he belted Bridges first pitch to left field for a double. Mike McCormick fanned but Ival Goodman, leading batsman of the series, singled to center field to send Werber home.

The lineups:
Reds: Werber, 3b; M. McCormick, cf; Goodman, rf; F. McCormick, 1b; Ripple, lf; Lombardi, c; Joost, 2b; Myers, ss; Turner, p.
Tigers: Bartell, ss; McCosky, cf; Gehring, 2b; Greenberg, lf; York, 1b; Campbell, rf; Higgins, 3b; Tebbetts, c; Bridges, p.

Umpires: Plate, Lee Ballanfant, National League; first base, Steve Basil, American League; second base, Bill Klem, National League; third base, Emmett Ormsby, American League.

Because they were opening a stand in a different ball park there was a long huddle of umpires and the managers at home plate before the game got under way. The band played the National Anthem with the crowd standing at attention and immediately afterward the Tigers took the field.

President Quotes Dispatch Saying Axis Against Him

Reads Article as Reply to Query Whether He Thinks Axis Actually Is Out to Beat Him

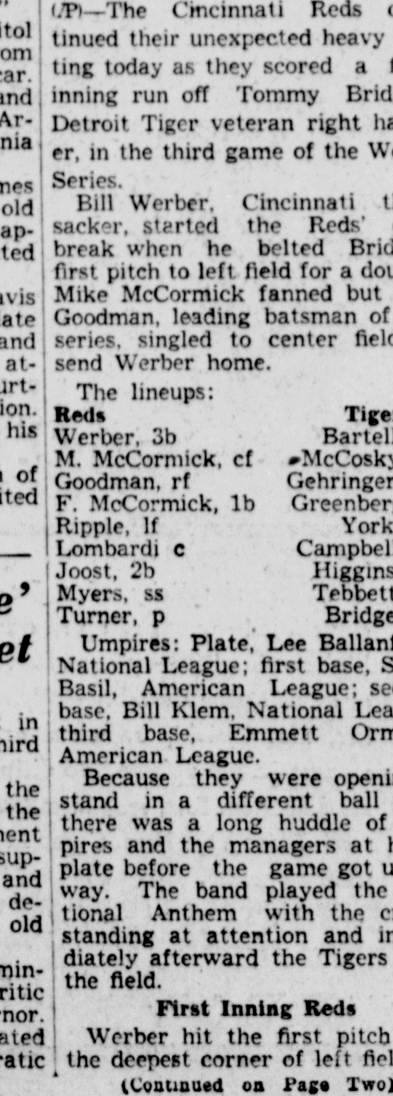

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt quoted today a newspaper dispatch saying that "the Axis is out to beat President Roosevelt" when asked at a press conference whether he had "any reason to believe Germany and Italy are working for your defeat in the election."

The news article was a New York Times dispatch from Rome. Mr. Roosevelt picked up a copy of the Times on his desk and quoted from the story in reply to the question.

First he had said it was a little difficult to answer the question. When, after the quotation, he was asked whether he had "any reason to believe the story was true," the President replied he was just quoting the press back at reporters.

It was, the President added, just a newspaper story, and he (Continued on Page 16)

H. G. Wells, noted British writer, shown as he arrived in New York city aboard the Scythia, expressed the opinion that "Jerry" (Nazi Germany) is getting near the end of his tether.

Communiqué Issued

Here at the little border town of Brennero, nestling in Brenner Pass, there was, of course, no word as to the precise nature of the dramatic, unheralded conference, one of a series in which the Fuehrer and his partner have planned world-shaking events, but a communiqué issued at lunch time said:

"Within the framework of the ordinary exchange of ideas, Il Duce and the Fuehrer met today at Brenner for a cordial reunion conducted within the sphere of the Axis."

"The two chiefs during three hours examined in the presence of Foreign Ministers Count Ciano and Von Ribbentrop all the problems confronting the two countries."

"General Von Keitel attended the last part of the talk. "Conversations then were continued during lunch at which the two foreign ministers took part."

Despite the unheralded nature of the parley, the entourages from Berlin and Rome mustered a show of ceremony never lacking from such events.

While the morning sun gilded the Alpine peaks and strove against the fog lying deep in Brenner Pass an Italian band played Nazi and Fascist anthems, (Continued on Page Three)

Historic Picture Opens at Broadway

'Howards of Virginia' Is Epic of United States

Mighty epic of a mighty nation, "The Howards of Virginia" opens Saturday at the Broadway Theatre to unfold a story torn out of the rugged background of America, a story so stirring and so timely that it might have been taken from today's headlines! A story of the birth of freedom and democracy in America, "The Howards of Virginia" is said to be a wondrously exciting, ever-stirring drama of the struggle between Tory aristocrat and simple man of the soil for the right to build a nation.

Cary Grant and Martha Scott are co-starred in the new Frank Lloyd production, which was based upon Elizabeth Page's sensational literary Guild best-seller, "The Tree of Liberty." Sidney Buchman, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" fame, penned the adaptation, and the supporting cast includes Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Alan Marshal and Richard Carlson.

Grant, deserting his light comedy roles for the Columbia picture, is said to give the screen the greatest performance of his career in his portrait of Matt Howard, hardy, untamed frontiersman, who falls in love with a gracious Virginia belle and, with her, builds a home in the wilderness. It is not only a conquest of the soil which makes Grant's part so moving; it is the earnestness and the grim determination with which he is willing to give his life, willing to risk his home and his happiness, in the fight for American freedom—freedom to worship, freedom to speak and to write and to assemble—and the struggle for a government in which the majority shall rule and the minority shall have the right to speak freely. Therein lies the timeliness which has made "The Howards of Virginia" something more than just a spectacular, colorful motion picture. "The Howards of Virginia" is a picture of a special type, and from it the world can learn a great deal; from it the world can learn that history's pages can supply the answers to today's problems. Advance reports are unanimous in their praises of Grant and Miss Scott, who scored a personal triumph in "Our Town," and praise is also given to the lesser players. Frank Lloyd's direction is said to be even greater than ever, so that his "The Howards of Virginia" emerges a more moving and more memorable production than even his "Cavalcade" or "Mutiny on the Bounty."

Quake Destroys Buildings

Santiago, Chile, Oct. 4 (AP)—Several buildings were destroyed or damaged by a series of earthquakes which shook Chile's northern provinces early today, the ministry of the interior announced. The shocks, apparently strongest in the region of Iquique, were felt intermittently over a period of six hours. No reports have been received of any casualties.

When a ceiling is cracked, or disfigured by patching, it can be made beautiful again without removing the old plaster. The ceiling should be covered with metal lath, which comes in sheets eight feet long and more than two feet wide. The sheets can be spliced by lapping and cut to fit any surface.

grounds of convenience of witnesses. Mrs. Davison opposed it on the grounds that Poughkeepsie was but 16 miles away and she argued that if the case were removed to Ulster county she could not get a fair trial here because of the influential persons connected with the case.

The matter grows out of an incident which took place some time ago when Mrs. Davison picketed the court house with "sandwich" signs after she had appeared in court here and been ruled against by the court. At that time she attacked Justice Schirck's decision, attacked Ulster county attorneys and alleged that she was not receiving fair treatment. As a result of the picketing she was picked up by the local police and brought to the court house, examined by the physicians and as a result of their examination committed to Middletown. She now seeks to recover alleged damages.

W.P.A. Plan for 150 Landing Places Is Not Hurt by Cut

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 4 (AP)—The Works Project Administration's plan for 150 permanent landing fields in New York state for military aircraft is not affected by congressional rejection yesterday of a proposed $80,000,000 for construction and improvement of 4,000 airports.

U. S. WPA Administrator Lester W. Herzog said the WPA already has funds for labor and some materials for the military airport chain, recommended by the war department. Counties must provide the land and the mechanic equipment.

a double. Trying to hunt, M. McCormick missed one strike, fouled another and then fanned. With the count of one strike, Goodman drove a sharp single to center scoring Werber. F. McCormick looked at one ball and then lined to Campbell, Goodman holding first. Ripple was called out on strikes after swinging viciously at four of Bridges' curves, foul tipping two. One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

First Inning Tigers

Myers threw out Bartell by a couple of yards. McCosky waited out a two and two count and then grounded out, Joost to F. McCormick. With the count two and two, Gehringer bounced out, Turner to McCormick. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Second Inning Reds

Lombardi waited out a two and two count, and then hit to deep right field and hobbled to second ahead of the throw, sliding into the bag. Joost was called out on strikes on four pitches.

Myers took two strikes and then lifted a high pop to Bartell in front of second base.

Turner lifted a short fly to McCosky. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Second Inning Tigers

As Greenberg came to bat, the fans, some of them still filtering into their seats, gave him a big ovation.

The slugger looked at one curve, fouled another into the dirt, and then swung futilely at a bad ball on the outside.

York was called out, also on three straight strikes. Turner pitched another strike to Campbell, then a ball, and then Campbell doubled into left center field.

Higgins hit the first pitch directly at Werber and was easily thrown out. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Third Inning Reds

Werber bounced the ball over Bridges' head and Bartell came over fast to make a spectacular pickup almost on top of second base and threw him out.

With the count two balls and one strike, M. McCormick punched an easy hopper back at Bridges and was thrown out.

Goodman lined the first pitch to McCosky who made a running catch in short center. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Third Inning Tigers

Tebbets lifted a high fly to Ripple in left field.

Bres fanned on three consecutive pitches.

After looking at two balls, Bartell lifted a high fly to M. McCormick. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

November 14 Is Earliest Date for Army Induction

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today that November 14 was the earliest date now contemplated for induction into the army of men drafted under the new compulsory military service law.

Indications were that the number called then would be comparatively small and some officials estimated that possibly fewer than 100,000 draftees would be in the service by January 1, compared with earlier estimates of 400,000.

Spokesmen for the selective service committee asserted their machinery would be in readiness to begin furnishing men to the army by November 14 but it was pointed out that because of the burdens imposed on the army by mobilization of the National Guard and by the continued expansion of the regular army through voluntary enlistments it would not have the facilities for more than 100,000 trainees before the first of the year.

Discussing the housing problem today, the War Department estimated that each of the tent camps now being constructed would include more than 4,500 tents and over 300 buildings. These will house National Guard units which are to be expanded to full strength by the induction of conscription trainees.

The wooden cantonments to be used by units training in more severe climates will be composed of 316 barracks and several score other buildings.

The cantonment camps are expected to cost $8,000,000 each, compared with $5,000,000 for the tent camps.

Cladakis Hopeful Of Averting Milk Strike in Region

N. J. Cladakis, federal-state milk marketing administrator in the New York area, announced last night, after a conference with Archie Wright, chairman of the Dairy Farmers' Union that he hoped to avert a strike threatened by the union in order to secure a base price for milk of $2.50 a hundred pounds.

Members of the union in Ulster county have voted to support the demand and it is stated will join the strike if one is called.

One statement places the strength of the union in Ulster county at about 150 members, but another authority on the dairy situation in the county said this morning that while the union once had a membership of perhaps 150 he did not believe that many of them were left at the present time and that the total membership did not represent more than five per cent of the volume of milk in the county.

The same speaker also disputed the claim that there was any good reason for a strike and said that in his opinion the price paid for milk since last winter was satisfactory. He said that with the milk marketing order keeping surplus milk off the metropolitan fluid milk market the price had ranged over $2 per 100 pounds for the year, which was "not too bad." He added that "of course the big bulk of the dairymen would like more money for their milk, but at that they are better off than the chicken men and the fruit men."

The chief trouble with the milk business was seen to be over-production, with the supply, at most of the seasons of the year greatly exceeding the demand.

Hitler and Mussolini flung out their arms in the salutes and shook hands on the red, flower-banked carpet spread on the station platform.

Mussolini was a half hour ahead of his collaborator at their rendezvous. He had time to review the honor guard of the Fascist militia and chat with Ciano and Hans-Georg Viktor Von Mackensen, German ambassador to Rome, before Hitler, also traveling in an armored train, arrived.

Display of Warmth

There was a display of warmth in the handshake of the two leaders. Col.-Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, and Dino Alfieri, Italy's ambassador to Berlin, accompanied Hitler.

After this brief greeting the fuhrer and Il Duce crossed the platform to Mussolini's train and shortly after 11 a. m. began their talks in the presence of Ciano and Von Ribbentrop.

Nazi and Fascist gun crews manning the anti-aircraft batteries of the two trains were guests at noon mess given by the Brenner Fascist recreation organization.

(Italians in Rome attributed a fateful significance to this as to past meetings of the Axis partners. The official Italian news agency said "it marked a new step on the road toward political, social and economic systematizing of Europe.")

Men's Rally Is Held at Church

A men's rally, sponsored by the Brotherhood of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, brought together a hundred men of the parish for fellowship and feasting on Thursday evening. After enjoying a dinner which was served by the Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society, the men were treated to a program of entertainment. Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent of schools, was the speaker. His topic: "The Enemy Within," was a warning of the threat which Nazism and Fascism held for Democracy and an interpretation of the role education was expected to play in the defense of democracy. At the speakers' table are, left to right, seated: Harry Hutton, general chairman of the rally; the Rev. R. S. Gaenzle, pastor of the church, and Arthur B. Laidlaw, speaker. Standing in the same order, are Montgomery Bailey, president of the Men's Club, and committeemen, Louis Schwartz, Frank Strobe and Henry Dittus.

WHERE LOYALTY BELONGS

In the acceptance of the chairmanship of the local Willkie Club by Mrs. Eloise Preston Lovatt, a long standing Democrat, there is an effective answer to the question of other Democrats throughout the country, who are asking to whom they should turn in the November election to save the principles, precepts and traditions of the democracy of Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson.

That her loyalty to principles and to American institutions transcends any obligation of loyalty to any individual is manifested in her statement "that she is still a Democrat but does not feel that the present administration truly represents the principles of the party she has supported so long."

Other Democrats who will support Wendell Willkie give various reasons for their defection and one outstanding reason is that there is no Democrat running for office this year on their ticket. Mr. Roosevelt is a New Dealer and Mr. Wallace is a Republican.

Mr. Roosevelt is no longer a Democrat in the accepted sense of the word. He has never been a regular Democrat and is no wholly irregular. In his public addresses he never mentions the words Democrat and Republican and he boasts of the fact that he supported Theodore Roosevelt for the Presidency.

But more convincing than this is the fact that he insisted on the former Republican, Henry Wallace, as a candidate for Vice President this year. Mr. Wallace is about as far removed from a Jeffersonian Democrat as he is from General Franco.

THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER

As this is National Newspaper Week we may be pardoned for talking about ourselves collectively—the Press of America.

Tragic events in Europe have driven home to Americans the privilege they enjoy of a Free Press guaranteed by the Constitution. A Free Press is the one agency despised by totalitarian forces of every stripe. They cannot exist together. Either the press bends its knee to the dictator or else. One honest untrammelled newspaper of the American type would cause more damage in a dictator ridden country than 50 times 50 over-age destroyers.

But there is no necessity to plead the cause of freedom of the press. It has been discussed so much of late that no longer does the unthinking person translate it into license for the newspaper editor. It is now recognized as the essence of our governmental composition.

Newspapers of today have reached a point of perfection far beyond the wildest dreams of those in the profession at the turn of the century. Today they are the eyes for and the voice of the people. No longer are they the mirror of a single editor's mind or are they limited by an individual's intelligence. They are the daily compilation of knowledge from a vast number of experts who have transcribed what they have seen or heard in fields in which they have specialized. Representatives of today's newspapers are everywhere from the battle-field to the country church, from the police court to the supreme court, from the town meeting to congress. News of the world, nation, state, county, and school district pour into the newspapers twenty-four hours a day by wire, cable, airplane, radio, mail and telephone. Cities and communities are scoured for items of interest and importance by alert reporters. All of this is sorted and evaluated by other experts and once a day presented to the public as their best effort of recording history of the passing hours.

It is upon this presentation to the public that the newspaper stands or falls. If thousands of readers are attracted by the fairness and honesty of a journal's columns it becomes a great newspaper and a true servant of the American people. Dishonesty is quickly detected and the public turns to other sources or competitors. Such a newspaper fades away and through the weakness of its own making disappears entirely.

Much more could be written about the great strides made in the mechanics of newspaper publishing, which simplify the task of putting word pictures of important news events in the hands of readers only a few minutes after they have happened but all that fades to insignificance in times such as these. Just as long as the Press of America is able to present current facts as they happen without fear or favor the American people will be able to shape its course and the course of its destiny. We, of the newspaper world, feel that we have a solemn trust. You, the American people, are the ones who judge how well we administer that trust.

Anyway, word comes from the Far East that the Japanese troops are "courteously" burying the French soldiers they kill in Indo-China.

The next time John Bull goes to an African party, he'll make sure that the host understands about it.

Candidates who want to "make their calling and election sure" don't always win by calling names.

Timely simile: "As easy as a campaign promise."

THAT BODY OF YOURS

ANOTHER CAUSE OF LOW BACK PAIN

Backache is so common that any information regarding its cause and treatment is of interest to many.

For years it has been thought that most cases of pain in lower back were due to infection or injury, the joints between the last spine bone and the hip bones being the usual places where the inflammation started. From these joints the pain often extends down from hip to knee or even to ankle. This is called sciatica.

That another condition may be causing this pain in the lower back is now stated by research workers at the Mayo Clinic and elsewhere. They believe that the little disks of cartilage that form the "cushions" between the bones of the spine, can become inflamed or infected and cause the pain. The spine bones are called vertebrae and the disks or cushions are called intervertebral disks.

At the last convention of the Canadian Medical Association held in Toronto this subject of infection or disturbance of the intervertebral disks was discussed fully by Drs. J. C. B. Grant, A. A. Fletcher, W. L. Donohue, and J. Wallace Graham, Toronto.

Slides were shown illustrating the changes in the tissues of these disks due to infection, injury, or other causes. The substance forming the inner part of the disk broke through its outer covering, the shape of the disk was changed and pressure from the misshapen disk on nerves of the spine caused the pain. Some of these cases reported a slight backache followed by severe pain and a rise in temperature.

It is, however, difficult for your physician even with the X-ray film showing the "bulging" of the disk to say definitely that this bulged or "prolapsed" disk is the cause of the pain because while 40 per cent of patients have changes in the disk, only 5 per cent have symptoms.

Fortunately it doesn't matter whether your low back pain is due to injury or infection in the joints—sacroiliac and sacrolumbal—or to trouble in the intervertebral disks because the treatment is the same.

Treatment consists of getting rid of any infection present and rest in bed followed by the wearing of a belt or support.

THREE MEN ON A HORSE

BABSON ON BUSINESS

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Why So Many Pessimists?

Babson says: "Get Out of Declining Industries."

Derry New Hampshire, Oct. 4.—During the past few weeks I have talked with many directors of manufacturing corporations and National Banks as well as with large investors. Most of them are very optimistic. This probably is the real reason why securities and commodities are selling so low today with business as good as it now is in most lines. Yet, there are certain other groups who are both optimistic and are making money. Why this difference?

Old Age vs. Youth

Most of these pessimistic directors of corporations are middle-aged men who made their money during the "good old days of the 20's." They worked without government restrictions and had a free hand to do about as they wished, except commit murder. They simply do not know how to work under present conditions. They are not interested in making "small profits." They sulk at the idea of paying "heavy taxes." It is still hard "to teach old dogs new tricks."

Conclusion

What does all this mean? To me it means that while we are drafting young men for war, we also need them for industry and commerce; that we should sell out the old industries and invest in the new; that we should consider the advantages of the small community when being tempted by the bright lights of the big cities. The great drag upon business today is that the pessimists, who are old men engaged in declining industries and who are doing business in tax-burdened cities, hold the strings to the money bags.

Old vs. New Industries

I was greatly interested recently in comparing the directors of a Boston bank with those of a Los Angeles bank. As I sat at the board meeting of the Boston bank, I saw that all the members were engaged in declining industries. One was president of a large anthracite coal company; another owned outmoded hotels; another was high up in the railroad industry; while all were Republicans!

As, however, I sat at the board meeting of the Los Angeles bank, I found an entirely different situation. One of these directors was a very successful oil producer; another was the head of a well-known airplane factory; another was president of a movie company; while the youngest member owned a laboratory devoted to new plastic products. This board was equally divided between Democrats and Republicans!

How Localities Differ

Another thing: I found most of the pessimism in large cities where the taxes are very high and the growth small. In fact, a study of the new census figures shows that the population of many of these large cities has actually decreased during the past ten years although the population of the country as a whole has increased about ten million. This has caused certain cities like San Francisco, which has lost thousands because of the C. I. O. labor strikes, to demand recounts.

Yet, the smaller cities, from 10,000 to 25,000, have shown good gains. I also found that the business leaders and wage workers of the small communities are usually optimistic. Lead by their loyal local papers, they all are community-minded. Knowing one another, they naturally cooperate. A cooperative community must go ahead both materially and spiritually.

Conclusion

What does all this mean? To me it means that while we are drafting young men for war, we also need them for industry and commerce; that we should sell out the old industries and invest in the new; that we should consider the advantages of the small community when being tempted by the bright lights of the big cities. What does all this mean? To me it means that while we are drafting young men for war, we also need them for industry and commerce; that we should sell out the old industries and invest in the new; that we should consider the advantages of the small community when being tempted by the bright lights of the big cities. The great drag upon business today is that the pessimists, who are old men engaged in declining industries and who are doing business in tax-burdened cities, hold the strings to the money bags.

With Bands Playing "Over There"

Kingston sent away another contingent of 29 youths en route to Camp Dix to play their part in the World War. The demonstration given the boys was one of the largest held in the city.

The boys who left that day for training camp were Rufus Van Elten Whitney, William J. Healey, George F. Kearney, Edward L. Butler, Marcus G. Bechtold, Charles C. Lang.

Edward J. Costello, Claude A. Stone, Christian Melbert, Joseph W. Volk, Shuman Tomasian, Ralph Arace, Benjamin Cohen, Charles E. Sleight, Thomas B. Richardson, George Davis.

Philip Janiger, Herman I. DuBois, Judson J. Barrett, William C. Brown, William Krom, Ernest Wirth, Jr., Frank P. Cragan, John Rutledge, Monroe Sutton, Asa H. Countryman, Thomas V. Diamond, Henry A. Pieken and Christopher Countryman.

It is interesting to note that on April 10 of that year, Senator Charles W. Walton's bill appropriating $139,000 for the completion of the bridge over the Rondout creek was passed by the State Senate, as was the Walton-Brush bill providing for barge canal terminals to be located at Kingston, Newburgh, Yonkers and Poughkeepsie also passed.

The terminal in Kingston was never constructed.

Thursday evening, April 11, 1918, the Jr. O. U. A. M. Glee Club presented a successful minstrel show in Mechanics' Hall on Henry street, under the auspices of Charles DeWitt Council.

The soloists of the evening were Harvey Simpson, Fred Ewel, George E. Lowe, Frank Myers, Chris Stonestee, Albert Plough, Silas Soper and Ralph Deyo.

The Savage Land Four also made its appearance that evening. The quartet was composed of Otis W. Atkins, Robert Faulkner, Frank J. Oulton and Joseph Faulkner.

The minstrels closed with a humorous sketch presented by E. C. Swart, Frank Myers, Alva Builey and F. Righter Zelfiff.

New Deal Getting Ready to Stymie Defense by Encouraging Strikes and Disputes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 4.—The New Deal is getting ready to torpedo the national defense program by encouraging a wave of strikes and disputes which cannot but retard the production of war weapons needed immediately by Britain and the United States Army and Navy.

The New Deal doesn't do this intentionally, of course, but because the administration is so absorbed in party politics and keeping the CIO vote in line, action is taken which benefits the President's third-term ambitions while at the same time it strikes a crushing blow at the morale of business and industry in America.

Association correspondent said they scored a direct hit on the front part of an historic castle and demolished houses in two streets.

There were a number of casualties, some fatal.

The blasts shattered windows, tore craters in roadways and set rescue squads to feverish digging for survivors in wrecked buildings.

The British admiralty, reporting on activities of recent weeks, said that an Italian destroyer, two Italian submarines and seven German U-boats had been sent to the bottom by Britain's own wide-ranging naval force.

Single German planes flying in relays up the Thames Estuary toward London this afternoon caused the first air alarm since dawn.

A machine-gun burst heard above the roar of the engines indicated that British fighter planes were in action. Afterward, gunfire was heard over the central London area.

During the morning a lone raider—a gigantic four-engined plane—dived from clouds over the Thames Estuary area and dropped ten high explosive bombs. They were said to have fallen on marshland but it was acknowledged that nine persons were injured, two seriously.

Although hampered by bad weather, the air ministry said British bombers had made night raids on shipping off Dunkerque and in Rotterdam harbor, on barge concentrations at Heusden, an industrial plant near Wesel and railroad and oil storage facilities near Cherbourg.

The admiralty announcement said an Italian destroyer of the Curtatone class (966-tonners fitted for mine-laying), had been torpedoed and sunk by the British submarine Osiris in the Adriatic September 22.

"The enemy has recently been having a greater measure of success in his U-boat attacks on merchant shipping than during the earlier stages of the war," the admiralty also said, but added that the nine German and Italian submarines had been sunk during this period, while others had been damaged.

It said greater successes of the

Sears Correction

In the Sears Roebuck advertisement in Thursday's issue of The Freeman, Mallard Shot Gun Shells and Extra Range Shot Gun shells were quoted at prices in boxes of 50. The copy should have quoted these prices on boxes of 25.

Axis submarines had been expected after the collapse of France and the German seizure of the French Atlantic ports because submarines operating from those seized ports could remain longer in the ocean trade routes than those operating from Germany's ports.

(Authorized sources in Germany claimed British shipping losses since the beginning of the war totaled 7,000,000 tons, not including vessels of less than 2,000 tons.) The Osiris' victory was her second. On September 9 it was announced that she had sunk an Italian supply ship of about 3,000 tons in the Mediterranean. She is commanded by Lt. Com. J. R. G. Harvey.

Dirty weather over London sent German raiders home four hours before dawn today.

Describing weather conditions as "very unfavorable," the British government said the German attacks were concentrated largely on the London area but that bombs also were dropped in other parts of southeast England and at two places in southwest England.

Eleven outlying districts of London were bombed, it was reported, and the raiders also found their way to 20 districts in other parts of England.

"Little damage was done and the number of casualties was small," a government communique said.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

by Rita Moller Hanson

YESTERDAY: What began for Lynn Britton as a journey lightly undertaken to visit a Mongolian prince has become a prison trip into the Chinese interior. Now her captor, handsome Temu Darin, is pressing her into the Chinese interior. She is helpless, because her half-brother, Dick Britton, has apparently deserted her.

Chapter Eight

Attempted Escape

"HOW gorgeous!" Lynn gasped, and held the ring close to her face to admire its beauty. She pressed the pearls to her cheek, felt their soft sheen and then gazed at them again enchanted. "It is too large," Temu said, removing the circlet. "We'll have it cut down." Lynn could not bear to see that ring leave her sight. "Perhaps it would fit the middle finger," she suggested. He shook his head. "That would place it imperfectly."

"I'd really like to own that ring," she persisted. "I'd like to buy it."

He shot her a quick, compelling look that for some reason made her feel abashed as if she had been guilty of some breach of manners or lacking in a sensitivity and intuition she should possess.

"Some rings are never for sale," he replied quietly. "I understand," she agreed ruefully. She hadn't known it was in her to feel such a passion for an object. For a moment she had forgotten her surroundings, her plight.

"How did you acquire the ring?" she asked. "I neither bought it nor stole it," he smiled, returning the ring to his pocket. "You'll want some of these hair ornaments," he went on, and laid aside one of pink jade representing the lotus and another of peony design in blue tourmaline.

"My short hair wouldn't hold those things," she informed him coolly. "I imagine it grows swiftly," he remarked, and calmly laid aside several necklaces of Mongol workmanship. "You have beautiful hair."

Though she had brought up the personality of his continuation of it made her angry. With an effort she held back a contemptuous remark. Finally he picked out a pair of tiny, jeweled tobacco pipes.

He was so arrogantly sure of himself that Lynn could not help being impressed by it. Being the friend of a prince seemed to have its compensations, she mused.

"There," he asked curiously, "do you think I could ever wear these strange things?"

"There will be times when you are with the Princess Mother and pleased to wear Chinese garb. She belongs to the China of the old days." He told the men to leave and called his own boys to bring chests of cedar and sandalwood in which to pack the garments for the journey. He walked to the kang where her steamer trunks and traveling bags lay.

"Now as to your clothing for the trip," he said. "We travel light. A laundryman washes our garments every evening. Take only two or three changes of underclothing—sturdy shirts and shorts and heavy stockings. A dress or so for the evenings. The Duchess has Mongol cloaks and trousers prepared for you."

Her light silk pajamas lay across the pillow. "Another thing," he added. "You must have heavy, warm garments for sleeping in the desert."

"But I haven't," she retorted. "I'll see that you are supplied. The rest of your possessions will be packed away until we reach Delun." He turned, went out, and closed the door behind him.

Open Door

LYNN sat down and stared unseeing at the maid who was busy with the packing. What now? What did they want with her in Delun that they should take her against her will? Was it a sample of Oriental cruelty and vindictiveness?

Temu had said, "The Prince will not hold your brother's crimes against you." Lynn did not feel confident that this was true. Somehow, she must escape!

A servant came in and eased himself out with a chest of garments on his shoulder. The door did not latch behind him. The massive red gate beyond the devil-screen had stood open all morning, Lynn knew, to admit strings of coolies delivering merchandise. The maid's back was turned.

Lynn walked boldly and quietly out of the room, across the courtyard, and into the street. She might happen upon a white person, or someone speaking English, who would rescue her, and take her to an American consular agent or to some source that would give her aid and protection.

She had barely gone a few paces into the street when Chan, the head servant, closed in front of her and began chattering and waving his arms, urging her back. Looking around, she saw Temu standing at the gate and watching the shadow of a smile about his mouth.

Of the few passersby, staring at her vacantly, not one seemed worth appealing to. She tried to dodge around the boy barring her way.

way. He was big for a coolie, or being the athletic girl she was, she might have struck him down. Temu sauntered over, motioned the servant back into the compound, and asked Lynn if she didn't prefer walking back to being taken by force. She walked beside him and managed to drop her handkerchief, a distinctive, hand-made piece of linen. She turned and saw a beggar snatch it up.

"Where is Sherdock?" she demanded. "I wish to see him."

"Sherdock left for our next camp last night," Temu escorted her to the orange door. "We shall be ready to depart in a few minutes."

She stepped inside and turned and looked at him. "Since I must go, why couldn't I have gone with Sherdock?"

He measured her with eyes that missed nothing, a faint smile on his lips. "Sherdock might be physically helpless if a tall, strong girl such as you are, made up her mind to leave."

Did he go alone? "No, but I do not want the servants forced to lay hands on you."

His words generated an emotion in Lynn out of all proportion to his apparent intention. Blood rushed to her face. She hadn't believed herself capable of such a passion of fear-whipped hate and some other indefinable emotion that welled up in her. She lifted her hands, and could have struck him.

Temu Darin stared. Then, suddenly understanding her rage, he spoke stiffly. "I have no evil intentions toward you." He wheeled and left her.

Lynn closed the door, turned, and sank down in a chair. She was trembling like a spent child, ashamed of her emotion and lack of control with a shame intensified by his final words. Somehow her pride something vital and exclusive, had been hurt.

One More Clue

PRESENTLY she noticed that all her possessions except one bag had been taken away. The maid had disappeared. Lynn rose and bathed her face, powdered her nose and ran a comb through her hair. Then she put on her wraps for the journey. There was no use being refractory when it did not advance her cause. Finally, she took paper and envelope from her bag and wrote in a firm hand:

Please rescue me. I am being taken to Delun against my will by men who claim to be representatives of the Prince of Shani Lun.

She signed her name and sealed the note in an envelope addressed to "Any Chinese or American Government Agent." This she placed in a larger envelope with a reasonable sum of money and placed it inside her purse.

A boy appeared for her bag. Following him out, she came face to face with Temu Darin carrying a traveling basket that contained a white Persian kitten, blinking big, green eyes at the world.

Lynn took the appealing little thing in her hands. "A gift from the Prince," said Temu bowing.

Firmly Lynn returned the animal to its basket. "I want no gifts from the Prince."

"My mistake," he said gravely. "Though born in the Prince's domain, the kitten comes with the compliments of its mother, a lady from Peking. She has three others and would be pleased for you to accept this one."

"That is different," said Lynn picking up the kitten again and setting it on her arm. "I have no quarrel with cats."

He smiled and watched her face obliquely as he directed her through several courtyards to an inconspicuous side gate where a motor-car awaited them in an hutting barely wide enough to accommodate the machine.

Lynn gasped, stopped and stared. The car bristled like a man-o-war. It was a large limousine fitted with machine gun emplacements on the front fenders. Strapped to the running boards stood gunners in heavy sheepskin garments. Beside a native driver sat the mechanic, a small sun-burned white man who looked as if he might be French.

A white man! Lynn's heart lifted. But he stared straight ahead and did not once glance at her. "We're being quiet as possible about this expedition," said Temu. "I'm taking a valuable cargo to a bandit-infested region."

They walked around to enter the car from the farther side. Then Lynn saw the driver. He was a burly Mongol, minus one ear, his face deeply pitted with smallpox scars. But today, instead of a red pilgrim's robe, he wore a khaki uniform and sat hunched over the wheel busily plying a pair of knitting needles in a pile of rare white camel-hair yarn.

Lynn closed her eyes and opened them again. She had seen a knight in armor. The very pilgrim who had so terrified her in the temple park was busily knitting a little white garment.

At sight of Lynn he stuffed the work into his tunic, jumped from the car and flung himself at her feet, beating his head in the dust and chanting strange musical words.

To find a career to which you are adapted by nature, and then to work at it, is about as near a formula for success and happiness as the world provides. Once the career is found the work takes care of itself—in fact, it doesn't become hard work at all.

American (gazing at the Monarch in amazement)—Subject? Subject, hell! I own part of the United States.

Molyneux Speaks
Guest speaker Thursday was Sheriff A. F. Molyneux who gave an interesting talk on the work of the sheriff's office, which he said had tripled in the past few years. Part of this increase he attributed to the activities of the New York city water project and another factor was the increased demand upon the office for service of all kinds. A humorous example of what is expected of the sheriff and his deputies was a call from an out of town woman late one evening, who told the jailor on duty that her radio had gone out of commission while she was listening to an important program and she asked to have someone sent to her home to put the machine in order.

"The worst thing we have to contend with is the drunken driver," the sheriff said. He hoped that some way could be found to send all such cases before the grand jury. As it is seven out of ten go before a justice, and when a jury trial is demanded it is seldom possible to get a conviction. One such case was mentioned in which it took two deputies to hold up a man who had been brought in for drunken driving. He was placed on a chair, fell off and crawled around on the floor on his hands and knees. Later he secured a lawyer, a jury trial was demanded, and despite the testimony of officers and two doctors, with report on blood test, the jury refused to bring in a verdict of guilty. Some of the changes introduced in the office and which have proved of value have been the introduction of a blotter system listing all calls and their disposition; a filing system through which commitments for years back are easily available and the purchase of a camera outfit so that pictures may be taken of all accidents and of scenes of various crimes.

To know the differences in flour is important in breadmaking, since different flours absorb different amounts of liquid.

So we hitched our wagon to a FIREBALL

— and gave these smarter, roomier cars even more sensational PERFORMANCE than before

THIS formidable example of precision machinery you see looming here is the new 1941 Buick FIREBALL engine.

It takes its name from what happens inside it.

Like all engines that hold major speed records on land, sea and in the air—like the famed General Motors new Allison aviation engine—it is valve-in-head type.

It represents 39 years of the development concentrated on valve-in-head design—and it stands today as the one engine in the land that really capitalizes on the new and better modern fuels.

The pistons in this Buick FIREBALL Eight are found in no other automobile engine.

Cupped in new contours to complement the dome of the cylinders, they roll the inrushing fuel charge into a flattened and turbulent ball, packed fat with potential power.

Concentrated about the racing-car type spark plugs, that explosive ball is fired from its very heart.

So great is its extra thrust that the same-size engine which last year developed 107 horsepower now pours out a super-efficient 115.

And so successfully does this engine make the most of modern fuels that you can use regular-priced fuels and still get more miles per gallon throughout the whole performance range.

This is the Buick FIREBALL principle, latest development of Buick's exclusive Dynaflex design.

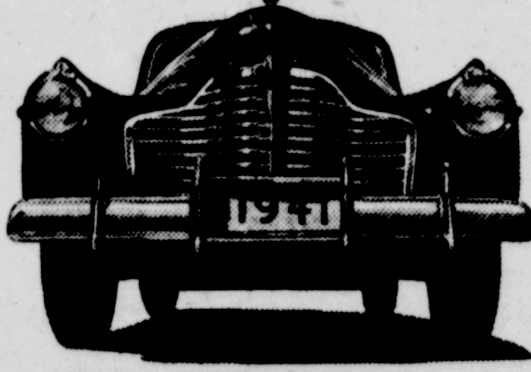

But there's still more to the story in the wonders worked by Compound Carburetion.

A standard part of Buick SUPER, CENTURY, ROADMASTER and LIMITED engines, this fuel-supply system lets you travel at fifty on the same meager fuel ration you ordinarily expend to get thirty, and delivers up to 10% or 15% more miles per gallon of gasoline.

You can have it in your Buick SPECIAL for a small extra charge—and step up your 115-horsepower engine to a wallowing 125.

But in big engine or bigger, you get plus-power from less gas—even the 165-hp. 1941 engines giving more miles per gallon than last year's 107-hp. engines at speeds above 40!

*According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, a super motor which travels with a series of explosions like the shock waves of a great projectile is called a "FIREBALL."

Brenner Pass Parley Only Logical Outcome of Failure Of Axis in Quick Victory

Germany and Italy Face Great Problems Due to Oncoming Winter in Europe

U. S. Is Topic Observer Says American Help to British Is Big Worry

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Brenner Pass meeting between Hitler and Mussolini is a logical outcome of the critical position of the war, due to the failure of the Axis powers thus far to achieve the quick victory which to their mind they need because of lack of resources for a long conflict.

There are numerous great problems which Germany and Italy must solve to meet this situation as they approach the hand of winter. The matters being discussed today under cloak of the Brenner Pass must, it seems to me, include these:

The attitude of the new triple alliance (Germany, Italy and Japan) toward the United States and the material aid which we are giving England.

How the alliance can secure the support of mighty Russia, or at least force this powerful union to keep hands off.

How best to proceed with the battles of Britain and of the Mediterranean.

Assault on Gibraltar

The latter would involve the question of an assault on Gibraltar—"Key to the Mediterranean"—and what part Spain might play in furnishing the essential bases for the operation.

It would concern, too, Axis action in the Balkans and Near East. Action to prevent the British from using Greek naval bases most certainly is being considered. So too is the feasibility of a drive into the Near East, in order to attack the British from that vantage point and also to secure the Iraq oil which both Germany and Italy need so badly.

There have been indications also that the question might arise as to whether the Germans should assume direction of the battle of the Mediterranean which thus far has been considered Mussolini's pigeon.

It is an interesting coincidence that this meeting which is bent on the destruction of the British

Hatch Doubts Law Is Being Enforced

Cleveland, Oct. 4 (AP).—Sen. Carl A. Hatch (D-N. Mex.), author of the bill prohibiting political activity among federal employees, asserted today there is "doubt as to administration and enforcement" of the measure.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Cleveland Citizens League, Senator Hatch said doubt exists "because in many places systems of merit already set up and established are not accomplishing the objectives planned and sought."

empire should come with the political retirement of England's former Premier Chamberlain—the man who must forever be identified with the events surrounding the outbreak of the war.

Transition Is Marked

The passing of Mr. Chamberlain from the picture signals far more than that his famous appeasement umbrella has at last gone to join museum pieces at public insistence. It marks the transition from one social epoch to another.

It symbolizes the breaking of the tie with the Victorian ideas which until the recent assumption of the premiership by Winston Churchill have in large degree determined British governmental policies.

It means that conservative England finally has recognized the need of sweeping changes to meet the wide-spread social upheaval which has produced such figures as Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin.

It means also that at long last young England has broken through the barriers and is coming into its own—a surrender of the notion that a man doesn't reach the age of wisdom until his hair is grey and his joints creak.

I'm not trying to say, of course, that this vast change has been effected in the moment of Mr. Chamberlain's retirement. In itself his withdrawal from high public life matters scarcely a tinker's dam.

The ferment has been at work, particularly among the younger generation, ever since the World War. But the lid has been held on tight by that unprogressive but all-powerful section of the Conservative Party known as the old guard of die hard Tories, whose ideas have been tied up in red tape and have been as unchanging as the rock of Gibraltar.

Earthquake Demonstrates What they didn't approve of simply didn't exist. It has taken the Hitlerian earthquake to demonstrate that things have changed since Queen Victoria's day.

Chamberlain was about the last of the old guard in high place, and the rank and file are thinning fast. He is a grand old man, of undoubted sincerity and with the highest sense of duty. But it would seem that he was unable to adapt himself to a fast changing situation which would permit of the creation of a Hitler. Neither could his predecessor, Premier Stanley Baldwin—a fine country gentleman who lived largely in the past, partly in the present but rarely in the future.

The end of the world war marked the beginning of a change in England. The younger generation, and alert thinkers among the older men like Winston Churchill and Lloyd George, recognized that something had snapped in the old scheme of affairs and that great social changes were in the making.

These men of the new thought recognized that a new and dynamic leadership was needed and they fought for it, but the old guard was too powerful. Came the early clashes with the sky-rocketing Hitler. Those of the new school decried the government's unrealistic policy. This battle continued until finally there arrived that desperate moment Hitler was riding rough-shod over Europe and the Allied cause seemed lost.

Then new thought won and the old guard gave way to the new guard headed by Churchill. Now a tired and ill old gentleman has retired. England has emerged into a new era.

ty and unanimously approved a resolution asserting:

"We have a national responsibility to relieve this country of a dangerous reactionary by defeating Representative Hamilton Fish in the fall election."

The Rev. A. H. Griffing, temporary chairman, said the meeting felt Fish "must be beaten because he is an obstructionist, unsympathetic to both President Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie on the standpoint of foreign policy."

"A Republican-controlled House of Representatives," he added, "would make Fish chairman of either the powerful foreign affairs or rules committee." He termed the gathering the start of an "organized democratic upsurge" among voters of Dutchess, Putnam and Orange counties.

Regulations Given For Literacy Test

Dates Are Set With First to Be Given Next Week at High School

The following are regulations of the New York State Literacy Test for voters as explained by School Superintendent Arthur J. Laidlaw:

At the general election in 1921 an amendment to Article II, section I, of the State Constitution was passed which provides:

"After January 1, 1922, no person shall become entitled to vote by attaining majority, by naturalization or otherwise, unless such person is also able, except for physical disability, to read and write English, and suitable laws shall be passed by the Legislature to enforce this provision."

The former test of reading an abstract from the constitution of this state, given by the election inspectors, is abolished.

The general qualifications of voters are as follows:

Voter must have been a citizen for 90 days.

Voter must be 21 years of age or more.

Voter must have lived 5 years in the United States.

Voter must have lived one year in the state.

Voter must have lived four months in the county.

Voter must have lived 30 days in the election district.

Voter must possess evidence of literacy if a new voter.

The qualifications as to time must exist as of the day of election.

Evidence of Literacy

The evidence of literacy which all new voters must present to the election inspectors is one of the following:

A diploma from an eighth grade elementary school in which English has been the language of instruction, or of a higher school.

A certificate of literacy issued by the school authorities under the rules and regulations of the Regents.

Certificates of literacy can be issued without examination under the following conditions, viz: "To new voters who can present evidence of having completed the work prescribed for the sixth grade of the public day schools of the state, or its equivalent in night school."

Such applicant should be particular to secure from the principal of his school a certificate stating the grade completed. Such procedure will save time both for the voter and the examiner. New voters who cannot furnish such certificate must take the New York State Regents Literacy Test.

An amendment voted by the 1936 Legislature provides that the certificate of literacy, when issued, shall be in duplicate. One copy may be retained by the person to whom it is issued and the other by the election inspectors to be transmitted to the board of elections for the county. This amendment will provide a check for election inspectors to see that the same person who took the literacy test signs the registration book.

Pursuant to the rules of the Board of Regents, the literacy test for the city of Kingston will be given at the Myron J. Michael School on the following dates by Principal Frank L. Meagher:

High School, Broadway—October 8—7 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Myron J. Michael School, Andrew street—October 9, 10, 18—10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

High School, Broadway—October 9, 10, 18—4 p. m. to 10 p. m.

High School, Broadway—October 19—7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

New voters are urged to take this test at the earliest possible date.

ARTHUR J. LAIDLAW, Superintendent of Schools, Kingston, N. Y., October 2, 1940.

Fire Prevention Week, October 6-13, is annually observed on the anniversary of the Chicago fire of 1871, which burned for three days, October 8, 9, and 10, and destroyed $187,000,000 worth of property.

Butler Outlines Columbia's Stand, Asks Dissenters Quit

New York, Oct. 4 (AP).—Columbia University's faculty studies today a pronouncement by President Nicholas Murray Butler in which he outlined the institution's position in the war between "beasts and human beings" and suggested that those who found themselves in conflict with the policy resign.

Because of the present World War," he told a convocation of the university's faculties yesterday, "primarily economic but now violently and brutally military as well, this institution at work in the field of liberty is called upon to cooperate with government."

Broadly speaking, he said, the policy of the university was to cooperate with the government in strengthening the nation's defense.

In his speech, Dr. Butler distinguished between academic freedom and university freedom, saying the former related solely to "freedom of thought and inquiry and to freedom of teaching on the part of accomplished scholars."

On the other hand, he said, university freedom meant the "right of the university itself to pursue its high ideals unhampered and unembarrassed by conduct on the part of any of its members which tends to damage its reputation, to lessen its influence or to lower its authority as a center of sound learning and of moral teaching."

Wallace Declares Party Does Good With Federal Cash

Says New Deal Committed to Policy of Pouring Funds Into Main Street and Onto U. S. Farms

Helena, Mont., Oct. 4 (AP).—Henry A. Wallace, campaigning in the Northern Great Plains, told Montana audiences the Democratic administration is committed to the policy of pouring money "into main street and onto the farms."

The Democratic nominee for vice president moved into the Dakotas today after an eastward swing across Montana. He was unable to hold a scheduled conference yesterday with Edward J. Flynn, Democratic national chairman, because weather conditions prevented Flynn's private plane from landing in Missoula, Mont., and the New Yorker continued west to Spokane.

Wallace, in a radio address yesterday at Helena, Mont., declared that Republican charges that Democrats poured money "down rat holes" was "strange talk from a party that made no effort to keep the people's money from being poured into Wall Street before 1929."

"As compared with Wall Street, is Montana a rat hole?" he asked. "Has the 585 million dollars that we spent or loaned here been thrown away? You know that it has not."

"Instead of pouring money into Wall Street, the policy of the Roosevelt administration is to pour it into Main Street and onto the farms where it will fertilize the soil from which all true prosperity grows."

At Butte Wallace asserted that President Roosevelt is the one man who can prepare the nation's defenses and also cope with the problems that will arise "when peace comes to the world and men lose their jobs in armament factories."

Harry K. Thaw Holds All-Comers Housewarming

Philadelphia, Oct. 4 (AP).—To the strains of Tchaikovsky and Beethoven, interspersed with "jive" from a five-piece orchestra, Harry K. Thaw, one-time millionaire playboy, threw open his new home to "all comers" invited through a newspaper advertisement.

Nearly a thousand "men over 18, women over 16" wandered last night through the downtown mansion purchased recently by the former Pittsburgher. They drank numerous bottles of soda pop, perched on packing cases scattered around the house and watched Thaw eat dinner in the kitchen.

At 9 p. m. one of ten detectives present shouted "all out." The orchestra broke into "Stars and Stripes Forever" and "Goodnight Angel" and a few people left.

At 10 p. m. lights went out and the "big housewarming" promised on a sign outside the door was over. They only had to throw one of the guests out.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

NAMES OF DIVORCED PARENTS ON SAME WEDDING INVITATION REAL TABU OF GOOD TASTE

If such an invitation should be Received, Acceptance Would be Sent to Bride's Mother

The names of divorced parents on the same wedding invitation is one of the real tabus of good taste. And yet, if neither parent has remarried, this would of course be a quite different situation from that of two remarried parents who call our attention to their shattered and reshaped pledges upon the same sheet of paper which calls upon us to witness the solemn taking of these same breakable pledges by their daughter. This last would certainly not be giving the latter's marriage a fair chance at the start.

However, this is not the answer to the following question, but just something I again should like to emphasize. "We have just received a wedding invitation sent in the names of the divorced parents. Since this invitation asks for an answer, to whom and how do we send our answer?"

Under the circumstances, your acceptance of the wedding invitation would be sent to the bride's mother, since the responsibility of sending out and accepting invitations is usually that of the hostess.

When No Return is Possible

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to spend a week with a girl who used to go to my school. She moved away several years ago and I have not seen her since. I should like to go, but I don't like to accept her kindness unless there is something I can do to repay it without inviting her to my house. I can never have any one here as our house is small, our family large, and mother and father are not even congenial. Do you think I ought to explain to the girl why I cannot invite her to my house? Answer: Certainly not! Never explain your family to their detriment! Moreover, it is NEVER necessary to return an invitation in kind. If you like the girl and you are sure she likes you (if she didn't she wouldn't invite you), there is no reason why you should not go. And there are many ways that you can return her invitation, which have nothing to do with money or whatever present return you are able to make. By this I mean by being sincere, sympathetic and good-tempered.

The Ring Bearer Wears...

Dear Mrs. Post: Please tell me what the ring bearer should wear if the men in the wedding are wearing evening suits? Answer: The ring bearer should be a very little boy, and he should wear a white suit—even possibly of the same material as the bride's dress. That is, if she wears satin, he very often wears a white satin suit. (Let's hope that you are not going to make a half-grown boy a ring bearer!)

The annual meeting of the stockholders of Wiltwyck Golf Club, Inc., will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the supervisors' room at the court house. All stockholder and player members of the club are urged to attend. It is expected that the reports of the officers of the club will show the past year to be the most successful since the building of the golf course on Hurley avenue.

The club roster of members is the highest it has ever been and under the leadership of Herbert E. Thomas as president, Ray LeFever as chairman of the greens committee, and with popular Tommy Danaher as pro and manager of the course, the facilities of the club have been more widely used during the past season than ever before.

The various inter-club matches were attended by many men players as well as a number of women members and these matches arranged by Ed. Tongue, as chairman of the tournament committee, were a popular feature of the season's activities. Herzog's Guidepost

T^o better living

Dan-Dee is a favorite no-rubbing, heavy duty floor wax, both germicidal and water-resisting. But that's not news.

Its lustre improves with wear, and it's easily applied with a soft cloth or mop. But that's not news either.

The news is that readers of the GUIDEPOST may get a quart can of Dan-Dee (reg. 79c value) for 49 cents. Come in for yours tomorrow or early next week.

The Fall and Winter wardrobe of a pampered pet must include a blanket, or a coat, or a sweater. The new styles are here (assembled at a special Pet Table on Herzog's first floor).

Don't let your pet fool you—he may look like a hardy little rogue when he plunges impulsively into the snow, or goes for a primitive prowl in the rain. But steam heat has had its effects—until even pets have come to know what it is to shiver.

Our new pet wardrobe fills the bill beautifully. The good wool in the blankets, coats and sweaters is the next best thing to Nature. Wool, with its animal fibre and natural elasticity, is man's most suitable covering. And the same goes for his pets.

If your pet at first objects to donning his sweater, on the grounds of appearing ridiculous among his pals, simply remind him that he looks much more ridiculous coming down with a chill.

The sweaters, in accepted style, have turtle necks. The choice is black with gold trim, or green with white. Blankets are bound with leather.

The Pet Table also includes combs and brushes, fancy collars, round collars for dogs, lined collars for cats, harnesses, muzzles, etc.

How about a new medicine cabinet? We've models to glorify every type of bathroom.

There's our inexpensive recessed cabinet for the low cost home or summer cottage, with mirror set in a steel, white enameled frame. It includes door stop, toothbrush rack, razor blade drop, two shelves.

For the moderate-priced home, there is the all-mirror-front cabinet. Mirror has bevel edge, and is attached to door with stainless steel mirror clips. It has two bulb edge glass shelves, bar type door stop, razor blade drop, two toothbrush racks.

Another model has mirror set in a stainless steel frame, polished and buffed to a chrome-like finish, therefore ideal where chrome accessories are used. Still another has a rich black enamel frame around the mirror.

See these bathroom cabinets any time at our showrooms, 9 N. Front St.

Republicans in Upstate Called "Vote-Slackers"

The New York Mirror in its issue of Thursday, October 3, had the following to say editorially under the caption "An Election About to be Snatched":

To the people of upstate New York, as a metropolitan newspaper, we make a confession:

The Big City political machines of this state, especially of this city, are about to "snatch" this Presidential election from you. Besides the tombstones, floaters and residents of Shanghai, Bombay and points west who will be voted as "good Democrats," the greatest drive in the history of politics will be launched to whip the New Deal voters into the balloting booths.

In this city the whole structure of New Deal patronage is being strengthened, rehearsed, hypnotized, brow-beaten, or cajoled into goose-step for election day.

The WPA, and relief vote are being lined up, of course; and the effective machinery of Mayor LaGuardia's regime is being oiled for the Big Push.

LaGuardia on the Other Side Now

(Remember, this time, the Little Flower—next to the President, the slickest politician in America—is not standing as a vigilant watchdog over the polls and the Democratic strong-arm squads.

Oh, no, he is now lined up with Hague and Flynn and Kelly and Nash and the rest of the veteran political "mechanics." Every ounce of his energy will be thrown into the fight to "get out the machine" vote in order to offset the honest, unblackjacked, unbought Republican pluralities that will be turned in upstate.

Even in 1936, analysis of the election figures shows how effective the Big City machines can be in "getting out the vote" for the Democrats.

In the last Presidential contest, 14 per cent of the people who registered upstate, normal Republican stronghold, FAILED TO VOTE on election day.

It is safe to assume that most of those "lazy Americans" were Republicans.

Compare that with the efficiency of the New York city political machine in 1936:

In the Bronx, only 4 per cent of the registered voters didn't vote; in Manhattan, only 5 per cent stayed away from the polls; in Kings, only 4 per cent dodged the ward heelers who are experts on "getting out the vote"; in Queens, only 3 per cent, and in Richmond only 3 per cent didn't vote.

Upstate Republicans "Vote-Slackers"

By comparison, some of the upstate counties were shamefully negligent in 1936:

In Republican Suffolk county, 26 per cent of the registered voters ducked the polls; in Allegany, 27 per cent were permitted to be slackers; in Cattaraugus, 22 per cent, etc.

The performance of the Republican drive in those counties was shameful—"vote-slackers" commit almost as great a crime against the democratic process as "floaters."

If this great Empire State is to be rescued from moral bankruptcy, from the grasp of Big City political machines; if New York is to prove to the dictators that democracy still works, that one man cannot thwart the will of the majority of Americans, then the people of upstate New York must register and on election day cast their vote for HONEST DEMOCRACY.

Legionnaires Plan for Victory Ball

The annual Victory Ball, sponsored by the Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, will be held this year on Monday evening, November 11. The various committee chairmen met at the Memorial Building on O'Reilly street last evening to make the first advance arrangements. Seated left to right are: John Janakis and Commander Jerry Martin, music committee; Mrs. Sam Mann, representing the auxiliary and in charge of refreshments and flowers; General Chairman Stanley Dempsey and S. H. Peyer, treasurer. Standing in the same order are: Gus S. Paulson, secretary; Eugene Mac Connell, entertainment; Roy Jacobs, decorations; Lester Elmendorf, reception; Harry Kirchner, tickets; Herman I. DuBois, publicity; Morton Finch, ushers; John Cleveland, stage; and William Jordan, in charge of the 11 o'clock ceremony.

The intensive keying of plaster applied over sheets of metal lath—more than 1,400 positive keys to each square foot—will prevent the plaster from falling off for a much longer period than other laths which do not have as many keys. Thus adjacent rooms are protected from serious water damage as well as from the spread of fire.

'Lord's Prayer' Will Be At High School Oct. 6

Rehearsals and preparations for the presentation of "The Lord's Prayer" have been steadily going forward this week, and it is forecast that the dramatization which will be given Sunday evening October 6, at the Kingston High School auditorium will compare favorably with those given at the New York World's Fair this season.

Seven local churches and the Y. W. C. A. are cooperating to make "The Lord's Prayer" a successful production proceeds in the form of a silver offering to be given to the American Red Cross for relief purposes. Nurses from the local hospitals, dressed in the regulation Red Cross Uniforms, will act as ushers, and the public is cordially invited to attend this dramatization.

Knew What Alled Him
Wilmington, N. C. (AP)—A 16-year-old boy, convicted of assault and battery, appealed to Recorded A. A. Lemon for a whipping instead of a jail sentence. The boy explained that he lived with an invalid grandmother and had gone without any correction for several years. The recorder called upon a husky longshoreman in the audience to administer the lashes.

Through the medium of this home companion, the Freeman, I am allowing myself to come to your homes and plead with you, not for my own personal reasons but for your gain. Have you ever figured out how much it costs you to prepare a nice Sunday dinner for four people and how much toil and shopping you have to do to get everything together, and then Sunday morning you have to get up early to prepare it? Why not get practical, tell your husbands, after you have found out it costs more to cook at home on Sunday, to give you Sunday off and I suggest to you to make it a perfect Sunday by all going to church in the morning and pray God should keep us out of war. Then you have done your duty to your Maker and to yourself, and after let your husbands take you to the famous

Maroon Gridders to Play Mont Pleasant School Saturday

Locals Will Open Home Schedule as Favorites to Win

Kingston Men to Outweigh Opponents in Line and Backfield; Big Turnout Expected at Game

Football, makes its sectional debut Saturday afternoon at municipal stadium when Kingston High School and Mont Pleasant take the field at 2:15 o'clock. A big turnout is expected.

Something new in the line of football for the Maroon and White will take place Friday evening, October 18 in Middletown. For the first time in the history of the school a night game has been arranged. The contest had previously been set for Saturday October 19.

Victorious in their first start against Amsterdam last week the Maroon and White pigskinners will be favored to make it two in a row. However, the boys of Sig Makofski won't be any pushovers for the local gridders.

Satisfied as far as everything went last Saturday Coach Tommy Weems has been watching his club go through its paces this week at the stadium.

As Kingston is by no means an experienced eleven Coach Weems has had his hands full in shaping a pennant-contender. And with only one contest off the seven-game schedule the Maroon mentor has still a lot of work with his young club.

Looked Impressive

Despite all of this, however, the Kingston High School team looked very impressive in its initial victory. The backfield, composed of some classy material, worked brilliantly at such an early date. The forward wall members charged with force and were capable of pulling out successfully.

The Mont Pleasant club, although struck hard by the June graduation, will have five lettermen in action tomorrow afternoon. Last season the Schenectady eleven went through an undefeated season. Coach Makofski commented recently that his squad is small but very aggressive.

Schenectady's club will average 166 pounds on the line and 158 in the backfield. The heaviest player in the line is Greenough, right tackle. The secondary is comparatively light with Norm Creasy, fullback, the heaviest man at 170. In contrast, the Maroon and White gridders will pack a lot of power on the left side. Kingston's line average greatly above its opponents while the backfield men, although not too hefty, will surely surpass the weight chart of Mont Pleasant.

The probable starting lineups:

Mont Pleasant	Kingston
LE. Smith	Stahl
LT. Koveay	Lemister
LG. Swetkowski	Brinnier
C. Lasok	Messinger
RG. Zytkowski	Hofbauer
RT. Greenough	Ellsworth
RE. Koprowski	Tucker
QB. Glinski	Short
LHB. Thelan	Esposito
RHB. Krueger	Benjamin
FB. Creasy	Fallon
Substitutes: (linemen)	Smith, Krystfik, Monachio, Bogucki, Ciavaroni, Backfield, Klimas, Janowski, Pamronski and Stucycki. Kingston, Ball, Crosswell, Clousi, Healy, Katchigan, Chandler, Potter, Luedtke, L. Salzman, A. Salzman, Maynone, Canty, McLaughlin, Brown, Winne, Rowland.

Mickey McConnell, the Dodgers' frontoffice official in charge of player talent on farm clubs, originally was baptized as La Verne McConnell, but on reaching his majority he legalized his front handle as Mickey.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Oct. 4 (AP)—Football tip: Tomorrow's Notre Dame-College of the Pacific series will be closer than a lot of youse guys think. . . . Apparently Powell Crosley, Jr., isn't worrying about the World's Series, even if he does own the Redios. . . . Last weekend he went to New Mexico on a fishing expedition and hasn't been seen since. . . . Told Pals: Giles and McKeechne could run the club good enough to suit him. . . . Clark Griffith says Cleveland has no business tinkering with Bucky Harris (if they have) because he is under contract. . . . Paul Derringer admitted today he bet $1,000 on himself to win Wednesday's opener.

He'll Be at Home

Bill Milliken, sophomore quarterback at Michigan State College, climbs mountains during summer vacations. . . . He should feel right at home this fall when Michigan State goes up against the Hilltoppers of Marquette and the Mountaineers of West Virginia.

Sports cocktail: Birdie Tebbets and Charlie Gehring of the Tigers will leave on a Caribbean cruise immediately after the Series. . . . A good guy to tab for your all-America is Jackie Hunt, 195-pound triple threat of Marshall College in West Virginia. . . . He was so good as a freshman a group of alumni took out a $10,000 life insurance policy on him. . . . Both of Texas Christian's first string ends are converted fullbacks. . . . Charles Bicknell, a triple threat sophomore and a former mayor of Father Flanagan's famous Boys' Town, near Omaha, Neb., is battling hard for a regular berth on the U. of Portland (Ore.) grid squad this year.

Short Shorts

Since returning to the majors Jimmie Rippel has swatted five homers, each of which won a ball game. . . . This week's football special: Virginia to trim Yale. . . . Harold Hanna of Cedar Rapids, Ia., will get two tickets to the Iowa-Wisconsin football game from the Cedar Rapids Gazette for correctly calling the finishing positions of all eight National League teams. . . . Here's a football oddity: U. of Detroit's Titans do not play a Saturday game until November 2. . . . Jack Kearns is supposed to have the backing to offer Joe Louis $250,000 and Max Baer $100,000 for a heavyweight title match. Forget it. Whenver Louis lays his title on the line, Mike Jacobs will be the promoter.

Back to Amateuism, Eh?

U. of South Carolina, which has been importing gridders from Pennsylvania and other foreign points and getting nowhere rapidly, apparently had given it up as a bad job. . . . Anyway, word from there is that 21 of the 25 members of the yearling squad are from South Carolina.

PUNTS AND PASSES

(By The Associated Press) Buffalo—Dud De Groot, new University of Rochester football coach, is the first to "speak out" this season. He told the Buffalo Rotary Club that "almost all the better coaches today are more concerned with what football is doing for the box office than with the number of games they win."

New York—When Lou Little wants the Columbia varsity to get a taste of real competition he puts his two assistants, Cliff Battles and Jerry Seidel, in the "scrubs" backfield—and lets 'em go to town. Battles, the former Washington Redskins ace and Seidel, one-time Columbia back, are still plenty good, the varsity'll tell you.

New York—When George Washington comes to town to meet Manhattan, it'll renew for the first time since high school days some pretty fierce rivalry. Frank Gnuyp, Manhattan captain, is an Aliquippa, Pa., product while John Kokoski and Eddie Wilamoski were stars on the Ambrige, Pa., teams that used to do battle with Aliquippa "Alligators."

Amherst—Gene Hubbard has a tough job following in his father's football footsteps. His father, Jack, was named by Walter Camp to his first all-American team, the only Amherst man ever to have gained that distinction.

Hanover—A half hour before the Dartmouth team took the field last week against St. Lawrence, Capt. Lou Young received the following telegram: "Have a good time today because we'll be up there next Saturday." It was signed by a Franklin and Marshall player!

BARTELL SCORES, BUT ALL IN VAIN

Dick Bartell, Tiger shortstop and lead-off man, scored (right) in the first inning of the second World Series game with the Cincinnati Reds, but the National Leaguers came back to knock Rowe out of the box and win, 5 to 3, evening the series. Hank Greenberg (5) watches Bartell score on Gehring's single. Wilson is the Red catcher; Red Ormsby the umpire.

Walters Stops Tigers With Three Hits to Win, 5 to 3; Bucky's 1st Series Victory

Reds Defeat Lyn Rowe in Early Innings; Bridges and Junior Thompson Today

Detroit, Oct. 4 (AP)—A few well-spaced smacks by Cincinnati's batters and one beautifully pitched game by Bucky Walters had changed the entire complexion of the 1940 World Series as the re-viving Reds tackled the Detroit Tigers in the third struggle of the autumn series at Briggs Stadium today.

Before yesterday's game anybody who would have offered a dime for the Reds' chances must have been an incurable sentimentalist. The National League champions had looked plain terrible as they lost the opening game at Cincinnati, 7 to 2, and they were the first to admit it.

Today they had to be accounted almost a new ball club. They finally had crashed through and won a World Series game, 5 to 3. Bill McKeechne's boys were riding the crest of victory.

It was a brand-new series, as full of fight as a mountain bobcat and packed with potential thrills. A majority of the country's baseball writers who crammed a special train from Cincinnati last night were feeling much better about their original hunch that the Reds were due to win.

There was some substance to their feeling, since Walters had won his game and the Reds had knocked Schoolboy Rowe, Detroit's second-best pitcher, from the hill. The Reds appeared to be in vastly better shape for pitching.

Veteran Bridges Ready

Detroit's logical pitcher today—in fact, about the only finger Del Baker could call upon—was the veteran Tommy Bridges. This admittedly would be Tommy's last appearance in the big series. Great star as he has been, Tommy is 34 years of age. He was tired in the latter stages of the American League race and was knocked from the box the last two times he started.

The Reds, on the other hand, had a couple of strong winning pitchers to try to follow the example set by Walters yesterday. It either would be "Milkman" Jim Turner or Junior Thompson, and after this pair the Reds could come right back with Paul Derringer, who was knocked from the box the last two times he started.

Turner, like Bridges, owns to 34 years. He was the National League's leading "rookie" when he joined the Boston Bees in 1937. Some of his intimates, however, swear that Jim was holding the gang plank in place when Pershing said: "Lafayette, we are here."

Ripple Stars

Thompson is one of the National League's most brilliant young pitchers and ordinarily third member of the Cincinnati staff. It was thought, pre-series, that he would face the Tigers in the third game. But Manager Bill McKeechne was struck by the manner in which Mel Harder, a Cleveland old-timer, set down the tearing Tigers in a late, unimportant game last week. He thought he detected a sneaking resemblance between Harder and his own man Turner, who is a crafty son-of-a-gun, himself, so there was a strong feeling that Turner would be his nominee to day.

But whatever happened today, the invaders looked the best for pitchers. The Detroiters, whose spokesman was the almost silent Del Baker, had Hank Greenberg and Rudy York, who are bad when they stand up there swinging the polished oak. Cincinnati had the pitching edge. That made it fairly even. It looked like a seven-gamer.

An individual hero? Outside Bucky Walters, who limited Detroit to three hits yesterday, that probably would be Jimmy Rippel. Yesterday he came up, all unbeknownst, and slapped a fine left-handed home run into the right field stands with a mate on base. That was the Reds' winning margin.

Wasps to Practice 7 P. M. at Stadium

Long Drill on Thursday Has Helped Team

Enthusied over Thursday's practice under the floodlights at municipal stadium, the Kingston Yellow Jackets will hold another drill tonight at 7 o'clock.

Most of tonight's practice will be devoted to signal drills. Following last night's rehearsal a spokesman of the team stated "the team is beginning to look better." "However," he continued, "the Wasps must continue to have these lengthy drills if we expect to hit the winning column soon."

The Wasps will play their second game of the season Sunday afternoon in Amsterdam. Kingston lost to Newburgh in the opening game of the season last Sunday by 19 to 0.

Only the Second Time

Cornell will be playing Army in football for the second time when they meet on October 12 at West Point. The other time they opposed each other was in 1907, when Cornell upset a powerful Army eleven, 14-10. Until that game Army had not even been scored upon that season.

Southpaw Clyde Shoun took part in his fiftieth game of the season for the Cardinals when he relieved Lon Warneke in the fifth and last inning of the nightcap of twin-bill with the Pirates. The modern mark for a pitcher in the senior major is 56 games in a season.

Financial and Commercial

Commodities Were Steady Thursday

Stock Prices Moved in Narrow Range With but Small Changes

Stock prices, so far as the Dow-Jones averages are concerned, moved in comparatively narrow range and closed irregular, with small changes either way. The industrial average closed at 135.09, below the best level of the day and a net gain of only .12 point. Rails got nowhere and closed unchanged at 29.37, while utilities had a slight loss, closing at 22.01, off .02.

U. S. and Bethlehem Steel moved forward at midday and after making new high ground for the move backed off, closing with slight gains.

There was little change in the news, either foreign or domestic, except that a statement by Attorney General Jackson, involving decisions by the N. L. R. B. one of the prominent New Deal centers of discord, was not encouraging so far as progress of the national defense program is concerned.

An informal ruling by the Attorney General, in a letter to Sidney Hillman of the National Defense Advisory Committee took the position that companies which have been held by the National Labor Relations Board to be in violation of the Wagner Labor Act are to be treated as law breakers, even though an appeal to a Federal court is pending. Enforcement of this ruling would in effect bar these companies from participation in the defense program, however, vital their work might be. Among companies listed as important factors in the defense program, now opposing Labor Board orders in the courts, are Bethlehem Steel and Ford Motor Co. Bethlehem Steel, according to one statement, has since June 1 obtained over a billion dollars in government contracts.

Commodities as a whole remained steady Thursday and the index was unchanged for the day. Cotton futures were up one to two points, wheat was up 1/4 to 1/2. Domestic copper remained firm at 12 cents a pound. In the export market there was a fair tonnage of foreign copper sold at ten cents a pound alongside ship, New York harbor.

The bond market was featured by spectacular gains in German issues—state, municipal and corporate. British Empire obligations also gained ground and some of the more heavily depressed Japanese issues showed advances.

Moving against the industry's general trend, Nash division of Nash-Kelvinator Corp. has reduced prices on its medium-priced six and eight cylinder cars for 1941. Cuts range as high as $159. Part of Nash's program to increase volume by at least 100 per cent over 1940.

Business of Standard Brands, Inc., continues to run well above last year's levels. Earnings for the quarter ended September 30 will be about the same as for the second quarter when net of 17 cents a share was earned. In the third quarter last year net was ten cents a share.

For the first time in 21 months freight car loadings have dropped below the comparable level in the preceding year. Loadings for the week ended September 28 were 822,434 cars, a slightly less than seasonal gain over the total of 829,696 cars loaded in the same week in 1939.

The U. S. Signal Corp. recently placed an order with General Cable Corp. for wire worth $2,183,000. The wire, stretched into a single wire would go around the earth more than four times at the Equator.

Officer Dykes's Condition Is Still Reported Serious

Special Officer Andrew Dykes's condition was reported today as still serious at the Kingston Hospital where he was taken Wednesday night following an auto crash between the cars driven by John Gilday of 141 Foxhall avenue and Sylvester Van Derzee, a negro, of 86 Chambers street.

Dykes, who was riding with Gilday, was hurled out of the coupe when the door flew open following the impact at the intersection of Cedar and Prospect streets.

At the hospital it was found that Dykes had suffered a skull fracture, several fractured ribs and concussion of the brain.

Van Derzee, arrested by Gilday on a charge of reckless driving, had his case adjourned for two weeks, owing to the injuries suffered by Dykes when he was arraigned Thursday in police court.

New York, Oct. 4 (AP)—Stocks generally backed water in today's market, although there were exceptions among airlines, coppers and specialties.

Light profit selling put leaders down fractions to a point or so in the forenoon. Extreme declines were reduced and, near the final hour, few weak spots were to be seen. Dealings were slow from the start, transfers being at the rate of about 500,000 shares.

Bonds and commodities were a shade mixed.

Prominent stocks in the lower drift were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, du Pont, General Electric, Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville, N. Y. Central, Loft and General Steel Castings preferred.

Resistant were American Airlines, Eastern Air Line, United Air Lines, Pan-American Airways, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge and U. S. Rubber.

Holders of automotive shares noted Ward's estimate that this week's output of new cars amounted to 105,153 units against 95,990 the week before and 76,095 in the like 1939 period. Production was expected to hold around the current level for a while.

Congress Working Toward Recess in Middle of Week

Washington, Oct. 4 (AP)—With the last big defense appropriations bill delivered to the President's desk, congressional leaders re-doubled efforts today to clear remaining important legislation from their slates so that a recess might be taken sometime next week, possibly Tuesday.

Majority Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) said the Senate would "be ready to quit this week" but made haste to add that the wind-up of the current 10-month session could not come before next week.

Both the Senate and House turned in speedy performances yesterday on the $1,482,000,000 defense appropriations bill—last of the big preparedness "money measures" expected this session. The Senate whipped it through without either debate or a record vote, then the house concurred in the Senate version and hurried the legislation to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature.

The bulk of the funds carried by the bill will go for the expenses of the conscription program and the expanding army.

The Senate also approved another item connected with defense—the $200,000,000 War Department Civil Functions Bill. First, however, it knocked out a house-approved provision for $80,000,000 to start construction on 4,000 new airports. The bill, which included funds for training 700,000 defense workers now goes to conference.

Armstrong Is Favored

New York, Oct. 4 (AP)—Hammerin' Henry Armstrong adds another mark tonight for the fallers of the future to shoot at. The little buzz-saw, who skyrocketed out of Los Angeles four years ago and became the first fighter to hold three world championships simultaneously, makes the 20th defense of his welterweight crown against the challenge of Fritz Zivic in Madison Square Garden. Some 15,000 customers and a gate of $40,000 are expected for the festivities. Gambling boys favor Armstrong and are quoting odds of 1 to 3 today.

The government should have no "profit" motive in the reconstruction, maintenance, and administration of public highways, asserts the National Highway Users Conference.
